Howard Kossover from the Social Security Administration explains how working might affect recipients of Social Security benefits to the April individual’s circumstance as focus group. Social Security decisions are very case specific. There was good discussion regarding trial work periods. Howard cited the wealth of information available on Social Security’s website and encouraged everyone to utilize this resource whenever possible.

Howard reviewed the formula for calculating SSI benefits when employed and explained that, even though benefits are reduced, it’s usually to people’s advantage to work. Howard also stressed the importance of looking at each individual’s circumstance as Social Security decisions are very case specific. Howard cited the wealth of information that’s available on Social Security’s website and encouraged everyone to utilize this resource whenever possible.

From the Desk of Tanja Kapinos, CEO

The last 3 months have been busy, to say the least. Our second consumer focus group of 2011 gave everyone a chance to ask questions and discuss specific Social Security issues. New staff training opportunities included a presentation by CVIC on how to better work with our consumers who might find themselves in an abusive situation, medication recertification with Amy Hestbeck & training on mood disorders with Dr. Hill at Northeast Human Service Center, with a session on psychotic disorders to follow this summer. We are beginning preparations for our 3rd visit with the Council on Quality & Leadership which will focus primarily on our Basic Assurances monitoring plan & how we have used what we have learned from this monitoring system to improve our organization and the quality of life of the people we support.

As a member of the Optimist Club, supporting children in our area, we assembled Easter baskets to distribute to families in need and participated in the Child ID program in conjunction with the GF Police Department.

A parting thought by David Frost: “Don't aim for success if you want it; just do what you love and believe in, and it will come naturally”.
